This thought provoking in-depth seminar will offer attendees a frank discussion about changes in mediation theory and the evolving trends in mediation practice. Following a discussion of practice changes and best practices from the host mediator, you will hear valuable practice pointers from two hats, one an experienced claimants counsel and the other for defendants who will provide a unique opportunity to see into the "other room" of a private caucus. Attendees will learn new ways to prepare and conduct mediation, how to maximize recovery or minimize exposure for the client, and critically examine important ethical issues and conflicts arising during the mediation process.
